

Sam was an avid hunter, especially birds and rabbits. He hunted with his cousins, brothers, and people on the farm. He was an engaging person to be with. He treated everyone with respect including the black people who worked on the farm. Many rabbit hunts were staged with everyone on the farm as well as other farm functions like tobacco harvesting, hog killing and the like.